

Maria Rompopoulou, PhD of the Department of Turkish Studies and Modern Asian Studies of the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, carries out research and teaching work on Learning, Teaching and Assessment of Turkish as a foreign language as well as Issues of Bilingualism from 2009 to present. Her research interests include issues of bilingualism or multilingualism, second language acquisition/learning, bilingual-minority education, as well as theoretical and didactic issues of teaching Turkish as a foreign language. She is also scientific collaborator of the Central Examinations Committee of the State Certificate of Language Proficiency (KPG) of the Ministry of Education (2009-) - Turkish language proficiency. Her monograph and publications are as follows:

The Bilingualism in younger generation of Greek Orthodox Community in Istanbul: The Language Use of Greek and Turkish Languages in Greek Minority Educational Institutions. Sociolinguistics approach. (2019). Athens: Leimon (in Greek).

«The use of Greek and Turkish in younger generation of Greek Orthodox Community in Istanbul» (in Greek) (2020). In the Proceedings of the 5th International Conference entitled "Crossroads of Languages and Cultures: Languages and Cultures at School and in the Family" pp.473-487. University of Crete. <https://clc5.ediamme.edc.uoc.gr/el/selected-papers-clc5/>

«The Bilingualism in younger generation of Greek Orthodox Community in Istanbul: The Language Use of Greek and Turkish Languages in Greek Minority Educational Institutions». (2018). In "Handbook of Research and Practice in Heritage Language Education" in Springer Reference: Springer International Handbooks of Education. pp. 539-560. <http://www.springer.com/978-3-319-44692-9>).

<https://www.researchgate.net/profile/Maria-Rompopoulou>

www.uoa.academia.edu/MariaRompopoulou