

Christina Sanlioglou, Teacher of Turkish Language since 2005 and PhD student at the Department of Turkish and Modern Asian Studies of the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, she carries out research and teaching work on issues of teaching Turkish as a foreign language, morphology and syntax of Turkish, as well as Turkish literature. She also works as an hourly paid teacher of Turkish at the Foreign Language School of University of Athens from 2003 until today. Her research interests include learning and teaching Turkish as a foreign language, contrastive language analysis, second / foreign language acquisition, translation, literature, empathy in literature and narrative empathy. She is a member of the scientific and creative team of the State Certificate of Language Proficiency (KPG) of the Ministry of Education and trainer, examiner and evaluator in Turkish (2009-). Actively participates as a researcher in EKPA / ESPA research programs. She is a Certified Teacher of Turkish as a Foreign Language by the Center for Research and Applications of Turkish Teaching (TÖMER) of Ada Kent University (2020).

She has worked as a teacher of Turkish at the School of Foreign Languages of the Greek Army, the Greek Air Force, at the Diplomatic Academy of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, at the Hellenic Parliament etc.

Her writing work entitled Turkish Grammar in Greek. (2011). In collaboration with Mr. Vassilios Dafnopatidis, Athens: Perugia is distributed as a textbook of Turkish Grammar from 2011 onwards in the relevant departments of universities in Greece and Cyprus.