

Anastasia Falierou graduated from the Department of History and Archeology at the University of Athens, Greece. She later studied Ottoman and Modern Turkish History in Ecole des Hautes Etudes en Sciences Sociales (E.H.E.S.S) in Paris and in Turkey. Anastasia Falierou worked as Fellow in the French Institute for Anatolian Studies in Istanbul (IFEA) and as instructor at Bahçeşehir University. Her research interests focus on Ottoman social and intellectual history, history of Modern Turkey, history of mentalities in the Ottoman Empire, literature and gender studies in the Middle East.